

On April 26, 2016, the plaintiff filed what he titled as a motion for leave to proceed IFP, that was construed as a motion to be relieved of the requirements of the PLRA. (See docs. 22, 23.) On April 28, 2016, he was again ordered to pay the outstanding balance of the full filing fee within twenty-one days. (See doc. 23.) On May 17, 2016, he moved for a continuance, and his motion was liberally construed as a motion for an extension of time to pay the remainder of the filing fee. (See docs. 24, 25.) He was given an additional fourteen days to pay the fee. (See doc. 25.) The order specifically warned that failure to timely pay the filing fee would result in a recommendation that the case be dismissed. Id. More than fourteen days have passed, but the plaintiff has not paid the fee or filed anything else in this case.

II. PRISON LITIGATION REFORM ACT

Because he filed this action while a prisoner at the Hunt County Jail, the plaintiff was subject to the Prison Litigation Reform Act (PLRA). The PLRA provides that a prisoner who brings a civil action “shall be required to pay the full amount of a filing fee,” although the fee may be paid in installments where leave to proceed in forma pauperis is granted. 28 U.S.C. § 1915(b)(1).² If leave to proceed in forma pauperis is granted, the court assesses and collects an initial partial filing fee from the custodial institution, which will subsequently withdraw funds from the prisoner’s inmate trust account and forward those funds to the Court in installments. § 1915(b)(1) and (2); Hatchet v. Nettles, 201 F.3d 651, 653 (5th Cir. 2000). The provision that allows for payment of the filing fee in installments only applies while the prisoner remains in custody. See 28 U.S.C. § 1915(b)(2). Where the prisoner is no longer in custody, withdrawal of funds from his inmate trust account to pay the fee in installments is no longer an option. Mabry v. TDCJ, No. 4:10CV520, 2013 WL 4522684, at *1 (E.D. Tex. Aug. 23, 2013). Nevertheless, a prisoner who brings an action remains subject to the provisions of the PLRA requiring full payment of the filing fee, even if he is subsequently released from custody. See Gay v. Tex. Dep't of Corr. State Jail Div., 117 F.3d 240, 242 (5th Cir. 1997).

² This fee provision was designed to deter frivolous prisoner litigation through liability for filing fees. Williams v. Roberts, 116 F.3d 1126, 1127–28 (5th Cir.1997).

Here, the plaintiff filed this action while he was in custody. Because he has now been released, he must pay the remainder of the full filing fee as required by the PLRA before this action may proceed further. See 28 U.S.C. § 1915(b)(1).

III. INVOLUNTARY DISMISSAL

Rule 41(b) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure permits a court to dismiss an action sua sponte for failure to prosecute or follow orders of the court. McCullough v. Lynaugh, 835 F.2d 1126, 1127 (5th Cir. 1988) (§ 1983 prisoner action). This authority flows from a court's inherent power to control its docket, prevent undue delays in the disposition of pending cases, and avoid congested court calendars. Link v. Wabash R.R. Co., 370 U.S. 626, 629-31 (1962). By order dated April 18, 2016, the plaintiff was given twenty-one days to pay the filing fee. He was specifically warned that failure to do so would result in a recommendation that the case be dismissed. Because he failed to comply with an order that he pay the remainder of the filing as required by the PLRA, his case should be dismissed. Mabry v. TDCJ, 2013 WL 4522684, at *1 (dismissing prisoner lawsuit under Rule 41(b) for failure to pay the remainder of the filing fee after his release from prison); Kohoutek v. Dallas County Sheriff's Dept., No. 3:10-CV-1780-B, 2010 WL 4721347 (N.D. Tex. Oct. 29, 2010) (same), rec. adopted, 2010 WL 4721350 (Nov. 19, 2010).

IV. RECOMMENDATION

This case should be dismissed without prejudice under Fed. R. Civ. P. 41(b) for failure to prosecute or follow court orders, unless the plaintiff pays the remainder of the filing fee within the time for objecting to this recommendation or some other deadline set by the Court.

SO RECOMMENDED this 27th day of June, 2016.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR SERVICE AND NOTICE OF RIGHT TO APPEAL/OBJECT

A copy of these findings, conclusions and recommendation shall be served on all parties in the manner provided by law. Any party who objects to any part of these findings, conclusions and recommendation must file specific written objections within 14 days after being served with a copy. See 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1); Fed. R. Civ. P. 72(b). In order to be specific, an objection must identify the specific finding or recommendation to which objection is made, state the basis for the objection, and specify the place in the magistrate judge's findings, conclusions and recommendation where the disputed determination is found. An objection that merely incorporates by reference or refers to the briefing before the magistrate judge is not specific. Failure to file specific written objections will bar the aggrieved party from appealing the factual findings and legal conclusions of the magistrate judge that are accepted or adopted by the district court, except upon grounds of plain error. See Douglass v. United Servs. Automobile Ass'n, 79 F.3d 1415, 1417 (5th Cir. 1996).
